

TUPE – Supermarket Security

Dear Colleagues,

As you will be aware ASDA begun consultation on a proposal to TUPE members to a third-party security company – Cardinal Security

The consultation would have resulted in many of our ASDA Security members being moved to that external security provider.

Following extensive meetings with ASDA, GMB are pleased to announce that all current Security consultations and proposed changes have been stopped. This includes the changes to hours for members in Superstores.

This does however not stop any future proposals affecting our security members.

GMB will be requesting that we meet with ASDA to discuss and provide recommendations on any future proposal affecting security so that we can protect our members and assists the business in finding a sustainable solution to the department for the future.

It is important that all security colleagues within ASDA join GMB to ensure they received trained representation at any future consultation which may occur.

GMB will of course keep our members updated on any further changes or proposals as and when they occur.

If you work within Security and require representation or need advice, please speak to your local shop steward or visit the GMB Members' Support Centre at www.gmb-asda.com/support.

Regards,

Martin Hall

Martin Hall
GMB Deputy National Security Representative

